Quintet Of Colleges To Voice Outlooks On Politics, Race

Wooster's first "Great Issues," Conference considering "Race and Politics in the United States," is expected to draw a large number of students from nearby Ohio colleges on April 25.

Five College Conference Coordinators Dave Wiley and Joan Becker, in conjunction with the Institute of Politics, Young Democrat Club Chairman Barbara Koch, and Young Republican Club Chairman Bill Van Tilberg, planned the schedule of speakers for the Conference.

Addresses include: "Politics and Civil Rights in Congress" by Mr. Howard Shuman; "Race as a Factor in Party Politics" by Mr. Elmer Schattschneider; the pros and cons of the two problems in "Civil Rights North of Dixie" presented by Mr. Marshall Bragdon and Mr. Gerius S. Brady who will discuss "Employment," and Mr. Morris Milgram and Mr. Marvin D. Yerke who will consider "Housing."

Opportunities for the students to air their views will come in the afternoon when the Conference will be broken up into small discussion groups, each having one Wooster student as chairman and two as discussion leaders. The aspect of the "Race and Politics in the U.S." will be considered by the three groups meeting simultaneously on housing, employment, and politics, respectively.

Writing Pair Casts Color Day Antics

Authors Joan Bowser and Robin Peters announce the cast of their Color Day Pageant, "Love's Labors Won," a parody on Shakespeare's "The Taming of the Shrew."

The group of players who will wander upon the court after the crowning of the Queen on Color Day morning and present a story on campus romance will include Harold Moran as Lucutio, Jack Burrow as Hortensio, Joe Alderman as Gremio, William Thompson as Petruchio, Marty Whitaker as Kate, and Anne Kopf, as Bianca.

Under the direction of Gretchen Van Matre, the pageant will be performed using modern dress and contemporary campus character types. The audience will be asked to imagine the scenery.

College To Picnic

Ants in the vicinity of the campus will have a rare feed when Woosterian picnickers take their annual holiday. This year the All-College Picnic will be held Wednesday, April 28. Bobbi Beck, sophomore, is chairman of the arrangements.

Food Service will dole out sack lunches from the outside door of the cage to hungry students. Dining halls will be closed for the event, which will take the place of the usual supper meal.

If Wooster weather chooses to perform with rain, the gym will harbor would-be outdoorsmen and women.

Indexes for 1957-58 are expected this week. The local chapter of Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity, will distribute the year books.

Policy Restricts Pizza Deliveries To Men's Dorms, Bans "Sangys"

"Pizza deliveries will be made only once a night to the men's dormitories," Dean of Men Ralph A. Young announced Saturday.

"The decision to revoke the student operated sandwich concession permanently and to limit pizza deliveries to the men's dormitories was the result of months of policy planning by a committee of concerned persons," the Dean declared.

That committee included, in addition to Dean Young, Mr. Arthur Palmer, the head residents of Douglass and Kenarden, a member of the student operated concession, and a representative of the Student Union.

News of the ruling set off a wave of rumors which were apparently founded on two letters from Business Manager Arthur E. Palmer to the two pizza concessions in Wooster, according to Dean Young.

The Dean attempted to clear up the misunderstandings. "From time immemorial there has been a sandwich concession on campus. Last year the students began ordering pizza from the two establishments in town. Soon pizza sales stepped up during the week along with sandwiches and soft drinks, and all without approval. Calls were made in the students' rooms with extra pizza brought along to sell door to door."

Mr. Palmer requested that this soliciting be stopped and that deliveries be confined to week-ends only in a letter to the pizza houses dated April 1.

This policy was designed to protect the student sandwich concession, popularly known as the "Sangy Man," and to permit student selling Monday through Thursday through the men's halls and at the desks of the women's dormitories. "The student concession's 24 employees were receiving competition from the pizza sales and losing money," Dean Young related.

The committee revised this policy at the request of Dean Marjory Golder, in a letter dated April 7. It stated that only in the men's dormitories would pizza deliveries be limited to week-ends.

The new policy, announced Saturday by Dean Young, concerns pizza deliveries in the men's dorms only.

Jim Traer Eyes Washington Tasks

Jim Traer, the winner of the Institute of Politics' Summer Congressional Fellowship of $400 plus traveling expenses, will soon head for Washington, D.C. to join the "summer bureaucrats." He will work in the office of a United States Senator or Representative and live with other college students in the YMCA.

A junior history major preparing for college teaching, Jim hopes to take advantage of as many of Washington's cultural offerings as possible during his stay.

Girl Choristers Slate Array of Show Melodies

"With Joyous Shout" the Girls' Chorus, directed by "My Fair Lady," Miss Eve Roine Richmond, will present show tunes in order of their development from the beginning of light operas until the present time tonight at 8:15 p.m. in the Chapel.

With Dr. William C. Craig of the Speech Department as narrator, the girls will start with a series of English show tunes, go to American show tunes, and finish with the Rodgers and Hammerstein Era. Assisting the chorus as soloists will be Richard K. Jones, baritone, from the city of Wooster; Dan Youngdahl, baritone; William Thompson, tenor; Larry Dunlap, baritone; and Sang Lee, baritone; all students at the college. Louise Stewart will accompany the chorus at the piano and Mary Ann Van Wickle at the organ.

English Opener

To begin the program the girls will sing "Youth's the Season," and "Greensleeves" from "The Beggar's Opera" followed by "Comes a Train," "Tit Willow" with Dan Youngdahl as soloist, "The Flowers That Bloom in the Spring," a duet of Bill Thompson and Dan Youngdahl, and "With Joyous Shout" from Gilbert and Sullivan's "The Mikado."

From "The Geisha" two songs, "Geisha Are We," and "The Monkey Song" with soloist Phyllis Berry, are included. Bill Thompson, Dan Youngdahl, and Larry Dunlap sing to maidens Carol Whiteleather, Judy Grosjean, and Jean Chambers as the "Floradora" sextette in "Tell Me Pretty Maiden." The "Kiss Waltz" from "The Pink Lady" concludes the English part of the program.

Broadway Rhythms

"All Is Fair" from "Robin Hood" commences the American show tunes. Anne Gurney will sing the solo in "Babes in Toyland" from the show "Toyland." "When a Maid Comes Knocking" from "The Firefly" will succeed "Thine Alone" a duet from "Eileen" featuring Donna Mitchell and William Thompson. From "Maytime" Martha Kay Parrott and Sang Lee will sing "Will You Remember Me," after which the chorus will present "Look for the Silver Lining" from "Sally" and "Tea for Two" from "No, No Nanette." Donna Mitchell will also offer "Indian Love Call" from "Rose Marie."

Time slips are due Thursday, April 23, 1959. Slips will be ready Thursday, April 30, 1959.

Dick Jones, the featured soloist, will sing "Ol' Man River" from "Show Boat," the chorus will present "Mack, the Knife" from "Three Penny Opera," and William Thompson will follow with "It Ain't Necessarily So" from "Porgy and Bess." "Begin the Beguine" from "Jubilee" will conclude the American portion of the program.

Duo Offerings

Familiar songs such as "June Is Bustin' Out All Over," "Younger Than Springtime," and "I'm Gonna Wash That Man Right Out of My Hair" with Donna Mitchell as soloist will follow. "Fanny," and "I Could Have Danced All Night," featuring Martha Kay Parrott, will also be presented as representative songs from the Rodgers and Hammerstein Era. Also included in this period are "Tonight" from the "West Side Story," "76 Trombones" featuring Dick Jones from "The Music Man," and "I Like Being a Girl" with Judy Grosjean as soloist. Climaxing the entire program, the chorus will offer "The Finale to the Gondoliers" from the show by the same name.

The Girls' Chorus, consisting of 49 members, during the past season has made an extended tour to the East in February and has also included several visits to churches of neighboring cities in their schedule. Mary Ann Van Wickle, president of the organization, has led the chorus in the 1958-59 program, assisted by Barbara Stockard, vice-president, Pat Murray, secretary, and Jan Worthington, treasurer. Also on the board are two representatives from each of the sophomore, junior, and senior classes.

Chapel Calendar

April 20,

Cleveland Indians' Player

A baseball player for the Cleveland Indians will present the Hayes Memorial Trophy to the student who, in the opinion of the Men's Association, has demonstrated the most outstanding athletic skill in intramural sports.

This annual award is made in memory of Robert A. Hayes, a Wooster senior and member of Third Section who suffered a fatal automobile accident in December, 1953. Because Bob's classmates considered athletic prowess his greatest asset, they placed a plaque in Severance Gymnasium on which the winner's name is engraved each year. Athletes who have earned varsity letters are not eligible.

April 21, Scot Symphonic Band

"The college band will attempt to show the sources of contemporary band music during the April 21 chapel program," comments Mr. Stewart Ling, director of the band. "The influence of folk music, jazz, and imitation of styles will be emphasized."

Highlighting the program will be two selections by William Latham, a teacher at Iowa State, entitled "Brighton Beach March" and "Nundanket." Other numbers are "Gavotte," by Columbia's Phillip Lang; "Jubilee," by Clifton William from the University of Texas; and "Motherless Child," by folk song collector Elie Siegmeister. Broadway's arranger-composers Stewart Schaeffer and Robert Russell Bennett contribute, respectively, "Autumn Beguine" and "Celebration" to the band's finale.

April 23, Unannounced

April 24, Senior Chapel

Rev. Chester Marcus

"What the Churches Are Doing About Race Relations" will be the topic of the Rev. Chester Marcus, speaker for the Five College Conference. As Director of Racial and Cultural Affairs of the United Church of Christ in Cleveland, Rev. Marcus has firsthand information on the steps which the church is taking and should take to help alleviate this pressing problem.

Scots Aid Village Projects

by Anne Barr

Quietly, but with effective industry, nearly 200 members of the Wooster student body have been performing work of real service to the community—perhaps unbeknown to many of the present readers. This group is composed of those students who weekly donate time and energy to the activities of the Boys Village, local rehabilitation center.

Working in such areas as tutoring, dancing, ceramics and art, singing, hiking, guitar lessons, photography instruction, and sports, these students are of far-reaching service in the re-development of the boys, providing them with a great variety of projects to meet their individual interests, as well as a sense of identity with clean-cut, well-adjusted young men and women.

Sponsored by the SCA, the Wooster program is coordinated by junior Bob Browning who asserts the Wooster purpose is two-fold: furnishing the boys an environment which will not condemn them for their mistakes nor demand anything of them, and providing for on-campus unity, an allaying factor in section and club dissension.

Organized in 1946, Boys Village is a state project, financed mainly by individual donations, and administered by trained definite view toward complete rehabilitation.

Boys Village itself is composed of four cottages, each with individual cottage parents, and includes also an industrial school and workshop. Many of the 36 boys who are now residents of Boys Village attend schools in the Wooster, Smithville and Shreve areas. They were placed in these respective school systems according to the size school to which they had been accustomed. Newcomers to the Village attend the industrial school until able to adjust effectively to the public schools.

The large staff of psychologists and psychiatrists devote a vast amount of time in individual counseling with the boys, seeking to aid them in an adequate understanding of their problems, themselves, and their relationships to other people.

Variety Possible

Wooster's role in this process is indeed far-reaching. According to Mr. George Benbow, recreational director, "Without the Wooster students, many of the activities at Boys Village would not be possible." In expressing his deep appreciation to the students he added that without them the activities would be limited to perhaps one per night—an activity in which Mr. Benbow himself could participate. With 150 to 200 students working in a wide variety of areas, more boys can participate in more activities more often.

The program includes activities six evenings each week. Wooster students directing these projects are Lewis Bishop, Julie Johnston, and Nancy Stump—tutoring, Carlisle Dick and Susan Tse—dancing, Nancy Boone—ceramics, Bob Browning and Maggie Mason—art, Al Boyd—singing, Joe Avignone—guitar lessons, Buz Price—hiking, and Chuck Livermore and Pete Wright—photography.

The sports program, coordinated by Bill Longworth and Ed Dingman, involves sports for each season, and includes participation in league competition. Most recently formed is the College Club, using students George Aberth, Bob Browning, Bill Bushfield, Jerry Collins, Reed Grunden, Cash Register, John Ryan, and Ron Taylor. These serve as big brothers to Village residents, often inviting them to college functions, and acting as a source of identity for the boys.

Aid Needed

One big problem with which the Boys Village staff is faced is that of finding a source for an adequate program during the three month interim when the college is not in session. Community projects, though off to a slow start, are gradually being effected in such areas as radio and archery clubs, and a soap box derby.

JUST As wRitteN by dave danner

While attempting a reference paper on the techniques of modern advertising, I came across an angle that could be used in Liberal Studies. Most of the books that are read, while they fulfill their purpose, lack the color and excitement to get people really interested in them. I decided that this could easily be taken care of by writing an advertisement for them just like the ones written for the modern paperback. What could be more appealing? The three books I chose were Plato's "Republic," "Brook Farm," and "Bees."

The Republic of Plato

Thrill to the stunning dialectic of Socrates "The Wise" straight from the uninhibited pen of Plato! Hailed by the "Times" as the answer to Perry Mason, and acclaimed by thousands, it is XL thrill-packed chapters of action and counteraction with sparkling narrative as only Plato would dare to write it! On the best-seller list for years, read this shocking expose of the life and adventures of a sophist. The book of the century and a surprise ending unequalled by O. Henry! Next only to "True Confessions of a Platonic"—It's "The Republic of Plato!"

Brook Farm

The most powerful autobiography published in years! Mary Hawthorn calls it "my most thrilling experience with reference work in my life." Read the heart rending love letters of Nathaniel Hawthorne to his beloved. Feel the tension as daring George Ripley and his beautiful wife tried desperately to hold together the farm! Thrill to the spectacular fire which threatened their very existence! Romance! Excitement! There can be only one—"Brook Farm!"

Bees

From the confidential files of Dr. Von Frisch, secrets long unknown to man, now revealed with every shocking detail just as the Doctor found it! The unknown society! Spine-tingling ritual dances! Mysterious language! An exotic queen and thousands of subjects at her very command! Unbelievable but true! "Bees!"

Honor Committee Tables Resolution, Refers It For Future Consideration

The possibility of an academic honor system in the Commonwealth of Wooster was investigated by the Congressional Club recently.

Two witnesses, Larry Wear, a member of the Student Senate honor system committee, and Dean Taeusch, representing the administration and faculty, gave testimony on the present examination system and the possible alternative which might be used.

Larry Wear gave a brief account of the history of the examination system at Wooster. Representatives then quizzed him about the work of his committee, his views on types of honor systems and their advantages over the present system. "The principal difference under an honor system would be that the responsibility for honesty in examinations and its enforcement would be shifted from the professor to the student," he stated.

Questioned extensively about the position of the administration and asked for personal observations on the outlook of the faculty, Dean Taeusch said that the faculty and administration would favor an honor system of some type but that it would have to insure the validity of the academic grading system. "I believe some action towards an honor system could be taken by the start of school in September," he commented.

After the witnesses had been examined, the committee debated the resolution, but decided that the bill needed revision. They voted to refer it to committee for additional work so the bill could be reconsidered at a later date.

The Wooster Debate Team was awarded a Superior Team certificate at the Miami University Sesquicentennial Debate Tournament on April 13. With eight visiting teams competing at Miami University, the University of Pittsburgh was unbeaten in the first four rounds and won a unanimous final round decision over Kenyon College.

By one team point, Kenyon topped the Wooster team to gain the spot opposite Pitt in the championship round. Representing Wooster at this event were Carol Stein, a sophomore, and Larry Caldwell, a freshman. Caldwell was awarded one of four Superior Individual Debater certificates for his 79 points.

Danner Describes Dilemma, The Tale Of His Crazy Auto

by Dave Danner

When I came to college I had to give up one of my most prized possessions—my car. I can remember that car almost as if it were here now—almost. There was no other car quite like it, thank goodness.

My car had several distinctive qualities about it which made it easy to distinguish. On the outside there was the unmistakable and unforgivable color. Due to an accident, two of the doors opened out, one opened in, and one just revolved. On the inside, besides the chorus of rattles, squeaks, and assorted chugs from the engine, easily noticed was the motionless speedometer.

The radio used to bother me because it didn't work, but I solved the problem. I handed out choir sheets as everyone got in. The broken speedometer worried me too until I realized I didn't have to worry about speeding anymore; I couldn't tell how fast I was going. Since it didn't indicate gas mileage either, it stopped the gas station attendants from asking me how many gallons I got to the mile.

The mechanism of my car was extremely intricate. Every last piece was in perfect condition. Put together it was a wreck, but every single piece was in perfect shape. The car ran on a high-powered fuel injection Mixmaster engine with a Necci transmission. (I called it that because it cost me five stitches.) It had four forward gears: first, second, third, and stall. Besides these I had two powerful gears in neutral. Unfortunately I lacked a reverse, so I lowered the back end, figuring the slant would make it roll backwards.

No matter how hard I tried, my improvements met with little success. Once I tried to "de-chrome" my car, but I couldn't find any chrome—my car was rust red. I even tried wiring it for A.C. current. By some trick it worked, but I almost went broke on extensions. Then, of course, there was my Isetta-type steering wheel. You see, it was tied onto the door, and every time you opened the door, it fell out. This meant I didn't steer my car—I aimed it.

Students and faculty who would like an LP recording of the Brahms REQUIEM as performed here April 3 may sign the list in Merz Hall. Price $3.00 each.

I decided that my car lacked pep, so I tried a new type of ethyl alcohol, Old Grandad. It showed improvement except for an occasional knock which I presumed to be a hiccup. I was the only one around with a fuel gauge that read from 3.2 to 90 proof.

I realize that my car wasn't the best. I also realize it was stretching the point to call it a car. But the memory of "Crazy Auto" is still with me—even if "Crazy Auto" isn't.

Frosh To Direct Heart Campaign

Priscilla Gardner, College of Wooster freshman from Batavia, New York, has been named liaison officer between the Heart Association and the College. In this capacity she will serve on the Board of Trustees of the Wayne County Heart Association, whose meetings she will attend monthly. Miss Gardner will also act as 1960 Wooster Heart Campaign Chairman.

The 1959 College Heart fund campaign was directed by sophomore Genie Bishop of Upper Montclair, N.J., and freshman Bob Gay of Kansas City, Mo. Under their leadership 26 Woosterians raised over $500 for the Wayne County Heart Association. They covered the north side of Wooster on Heart Sunday.

Contributions to the Heart Association are used for research programs on heart disease. At the March meeting of the County Association it was voted to contribute $50 to defray part of the expense of laboratory fees for a Wayne county girl who is to undergo heart surgery in Cleveland this spring.

Stroup Authors Magazine Article

Dr. Atlee L. Stroup, Chairman of the Department of Sociology, is co-author with Paul Glasser, of the Graduate School of Social Work of the University of Michigan, of an article appearing in the February issue of "Marriage and Family Living," a professional journal of Social Science. The article is entitled "The Orientation and Focus of Marriage Counseling."

In the article the authors attempt to clarify the role and function of the marriage counselor in relation to Social Work, Clinical Psychology, and Psychiatry. The authors have pointed out that marriage counseling, as a relatively new profession, must develop a more clear-cut, theoretical framework to which practice can be related.

Focus on Partner Relationship

It is suggested that marriage or pre-marriage counseling deals primarily with the conscious levels of personality, and that the focus should be essentially upon the relationship between the two partners concerned. Psychotherapy is considered to be distinct, though related to marriage counseling, with the emphasis on the deeper levels of personality.

The paper was originally read at a national meeting of the American Association of Marriage Counselors. Considered to be definitive and somewhat controversial, the editors saw fit to follow the article by extended comments of the three discussants.

Jersey's Meyner Balances Budget, Seeks Election?

This is the first of two articles on Governor Robert Meyner of New Jersey. The reporter, a native of the state, received his information through correspondence.

by Al Klyberg

A few months ago any perusing the editorial pages of the "Akron Beacon-Journal" February 15 most likely found an article written by John Knight, the editor and head of the Knight newspaper chain. This article compared the capabilities of Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan and Gov. Robert B. Meyner of New Jersey. It said:

"Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan and Gov. Robert Meyner of New Jersey are both regarded as 'liberals' by the American Democratic Action . . . but Meyner, a fiscal conservative, presented a balanced budget for the New Jersey legislature. Williams of Michigan can't pass current bills without advancing tax payments from industry."

"As Michigan's financial mismanagement is clouding Williams' presidential ambitions, Arthur Krohn of the 'New York Times' observes that Meyner's accomplishments might win him one of the blue ribbons in the Democratic convention of 1960."

This comment by Mr. Krohn is typical of the notices of mention that Robert B. Meyner has received since his resigning re-election in the fall of 1957. His name has appeared in numerous opinion polls and scores of magazine articles throughout the nation. Yet, people, perhaps too many, asking, "Who is Robert Meyner? What has he done? What are his views on national and international affairs?"

Robert Bauble Meyner, born on July 3, 1908 in East Pennsylvania, the son of a silk fixer in the silk industry. He attended Lafayette College, where he majored in government and continued his law studies after graduation at Columbia University Law School. He was admitted to the New Jersey bar in 1934.

In 1948 Robert Meyner was elected State Senator from Warren County. He served as minority leader at Trenton from 1950, and in November of 1950, campaigning against a machine, was elected Governor of New Jersey. His first administration was characterized by a house-cleaning, a re-organization of state agencies, and a fresh approach to state problems.

Early in 1957, Governor Meyner was married to Miss Day Stevenson, the daughter of the Oberlin College President and in the fall of the same year was re-elected governor. The election was an upset, and a landslide. Meyner's aid from outside sources was denounced by his opponent in 1959 of the 21 counties a 200,000 vote plurality of his victories occurred a year after the Republican swept the state in elections.

Under the administration of Robert Meyner, concrete asphalt now spans the interstate traffic from New Jersey and Pennsylvania to flow and quickly. Drivers who in New Jersey lose their lives as a result of this there has been a major reduction in highway fatalities.

Scots Take First In Track Triangular; Host To Oberlin In Stadium Tomorrow

Coach Carl B. Munson took his trackmen to Slippery Rock, Pa., last Saturday to launch the 1959 outdoor campaign. In the triangular meet against the host school and Thiel College, the Scots finished on top with 79 1/2 points. Slippery Rock was right on their heels with 74 points, while Thiel was far back with 16 1/2.

The Scots collared eight out of 16 firsts, with freshman Stu Patterson showing the way with three. Patterson was the winner in both the 100 and 220 yard dashes and the broad jump. Stu also helped the 880 yard relay team to a second and personally ended up with 15 3/4 points.

Craig Taylor, with a 20 yard lead at the end of three laps, breezed home easily to take the mile run and, a short while later, came back to finish first in the 880 yard run. The only other Scot runner to take a first was freshman Mike McBride in the high hurdles. McBride, a product of Lima, also came in second in the low hurdles.

Near Record

In the field events, Roger Ramseyer, with a heave of 47 feet 2 1/2 inches in the shot put, missed the school record by less than one inch. Big Lu Wims took the last Scot first, that being in the discus.

Since the meet was held outside of Ohio, where it is illegal by state law, a javelin throw was included. Slippery Rock picked up eight of their points in this event.

The Scots open their home and Ohio Conference schedule tomorrow against rival Oberlin. Coach Munson's squad lost to the Yeomen last spring in a close meet at Oberlin and will be out to avenge this tomorrow.

Sailors Prepare For Own Regatta

Since last fall when the Wooster Sailing Club pulled its nine boats on shore for winter repairs, it has not been inactive as might be supposed. At the start of the new semester the Scot Sailors resumed their weekly meetings and activities.

On the last weekend in February some representatives of the club went to Indiana University for the annual Midwestern Collegiate Sailing Association meeting, at which the coming spring and fall regatta dates were decided. Among the schools the Scots will be competing against this year are Xavier, Ohio State, Ohio Wesleyan, and Oberlin. On April 25 and 26 the Club will be host to five schools for a five school regatta on Charles Mill Lake.

Dry Land Classes

For three weeks prior to spring vacation, special dry land classes followed the regular business meetings of the Club. Two classes were conducted simultaneously: one on the fundamentals of sailing, led by George Griswold; and one on racing techniques, led by Harry Carlson.

It was decided at these pre-vacation meetings to hold intracub eliminations after vacation, to determine the best club skipper and to keep the racing skippers in condition for intercollegiate competition. The first of these eliminations was held last Saturday, in spite of somewhat cold and unfavorable conditions. George Griswold was the first winner, with Kathy Turner crewing for him. On this same day the Sailors held a Faculty Sailing Day, to which all the faculty were invited. Those who came, although a little cold and wet, said they enjoyed themselves.

Netmen Trip Tigers For Inaugural Win

Last Saturday afternoon, the Wooster tennis team traveled to Springfield and defeated the Wittenberg squad 5 to 4. The match was the first of the season for Coach Jim Ewers' squad.

Ron Rolley and Fred Hess, Wooster's first and second singles players, respectively, were defeated by their Tiger opponents. Russ Galloway put Wooster into the scoring column by winning 6-2, 6-2. Fred Takesh, in the fourth singles, was defeated, but Chuck Nason and Chris Hines both won their matches to tie the score at 3-all.

Rally Successful

Wooster jumped into the lead as Galloway and Hess took the first doubles, 6-4, 6-1. Then Mel Orwig and Rolley teamed to win the second doubles in three sets, 1-6, 8-6, 6-3. Hines and Nason were defeated in third doubles, but the Scots were still ahead at the end, 5-4.

Tomorrow afternoon Coach Jim Ewers' men will travel to Kenyon, and Wednesday they'll take on Mount Union on the home courts.

Diamondmen Top Lords In Opener

Strong pitching by Tom McConihe and Bill Ashworth paved the way as the Scots opened their 1959 diamond season with a 4-0 verdict over Kenyon last Friday. In the hitting department, Jim Dennison and Bill Thombs collected three apiece to lead the host victors.

McConihe received the starting nod from Coach John Swigart and hooked up in a scoreless duel with Kenyon's Wilson Roane for five innings. During that time the Scots were able to pick up two singles while the visiting Lords went hitless.

In hopes of starting a rally and not wanting McConihe to come up with a sore arm on that cold day, Coach Swigart used a pinch-hitter for Tom in the fifth (to no avail) and sent Ashworth to the hill in the sixth. Ray Brown beat out an infield roller for Kenyon's first hit in the sixth and was thrown out moments later trying to steal.

Scot Score

In the home half of the sixth, Bob Whitaker led off with a single to left-center and moved to third on Bill Thombs' ground hit up the middle. Ron Miller brought Whitaker home with a long sacrifice fly to left for the first Scot tally.

Roane finally fired in the seventh and the Swigartmen pounded him for three insurance runs. Dan Thomas walked, Dennison tripled deep to left, Whitaker singled in Dennison, and Dale Weygandt brought in Whitaker with a long double to left-center. The Scots now led 4-0, and it stayed that way to the end.

Using his curve as his primary weapon, McConihe struck out five and walked none in his five-inning stint. Ashworth gave up two hits, walked four, and whiffed seven during his four frames.

Third Clinches Tie In Volleyball Loop By Beating Seventh

Third Section virtually clinched the intramural volleyball championship last Tuesday when they rallied to down a strong Seventh squad, 11-15, 15-13, and 15-4. With Koorosh Samii and Dave Swanson setting up spikers John Haynes and Bill Pindar perfectly, the Rabbis were unstoppable in the third and deciding game.

Third's record of five wins against no losses assures them of a tie for first place. Only winless Eighth stood in the way for the Rabbis, and that game was played last night—too late for this edition.

Kent Golfers Top Shipemen At Kent

The Scot golfers journeyed to Kent last Saturday and were beaten in their first outing 20-4 by the Kent Staters on Kent's windy, rain-swept golf links.

Senior Tom Miller, defending Ohio Conference medalist, was defeated for the third time in his intercollegiate career, which is in its fourth year.

Scot freshman Dave Shriver tied Kent's Bill Boshard for medalist honors. Each had an 80 over the par 72 course. Shriver's score was good for three of the four Scot points, the other being picked up by Bill Zufall.

Looking ahead, Coach Phil Shippe's linksmen will be hosts to Denison tomorrow and Ohio Wesleyan next Wednesday.

Friends Meeting Gets Recognition, To Meet Sunday

Next Sunday the Friends worship group (Quakers) which has been meeting on campus will be organized as an official Monthly Meeting by the Friends World Committee.

Visitors from other Ohio meetings will join with Wooster Friends this Sunday morning in a meeting at which the charter will be received. Recognition by FWC implies that the group has reached permanence and spiritual maturity.

The group was begun about 10 years ago by William Heywood, an instructor in Philosophy at the College, as a Sunday morning discussion group. Since then it has been continued as a worship group by students at the College and families from Wooster, Smithville, and Ashland. Meetings for worship are held each Sunday morning in the Music Room and consist of an hour of unprogrammed worship and meditation. A discussion group also meets once a week.

The Clerk of the meeting is Howard Kriebel of the Agricultural Experiment Station. The Student Clerk for this year is Mary Dunham.

Visitors are welcome at the weekly meetings.

Folk Dance Class Swings Partners

Folk dance classes will swing their partners in a public demonstration next Wednesday night at 8:15 in the gym.

Under the direction of majors in the physical education department, the classes will show Scandinavian, American, and European dances.

Congressional Club To Visit Congress

Planning to view government operations first hand, a dozen Congressional Club members will leave for Washington, D.C. Wednesday afternoon at 4:00. Advisor Dr. A. R. Burn will join the trip, which is partially subsidized by the club.

First on the group's busy schedule is a Thursday morning visit to the United States Congress plus various committee hearings. The afternoon will bring an appointment at Justice Department where students will be briefed on the integration problem.

Headed for the State Department on Friday morning the group will discuss the Berlin crisis before their appointment with Vice President Nixon's assistant, Charles McWhorter. The remainder of the day plus Saturday are as yet not definitely planned. Possibilities include a visit to the Russian embassy and an appointment with the ambassador if he is in town.

Before returning to Wooster on Sunday the group may also tour other embassies as well as the traditional sight-seeing highlights.
